

LAURA IAVICOLI, MD, FACEP

Dr. Iavicoli is a board-certified Emergency Medicine physician with special expertise in Emergency Management, Senior Assistant Vice President of Emergency Management for NYC Health and Hospitals. She is an associate Professor at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai and employed in Elmhurst Hospital, a teaching affiliate of Mount Sinai Medical center for 20 years, training and teaching Emergency Medicine Residents, Internal Medicine Residents, and Medical Students in Emergency Medicine. Dr. Iavicoli serves on numerous hospital, local and national committees devoted to emergency management issues; with publications, trainings and seminars pertaining to disaster preparedness, including pandemic response, terrorism, mass casualties, blast injuries, psychiatric effects, decontamination, protective equipment, et al. Disaster relief team member for >10 years for NYC and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).